TEACHING INTERNSHIP PORTFOLIO

DAILY TEACHING LOG & APPLIED LINGUISTICS REFLECTIVE JOURNAL

Student Intern: Applied Linguistics Candidate (3rd Year)

Teaching Level: Class XII (12th Grade English)

Internship Period: 14 September – 16 October (5 Weeks)

Weekly Schedule: Mon 1h (8-9am) \| Wed 5.5h (8-1:30pm) \| Fri 4.5h (8-12:30pm)

Course Integrated: English for Academic & Career Readiness (EACR)

Total Direct Hours: 55 Hours Logged (11 Hours / Week)

Executive Portfolio Overview

This internship portfolio documents a 5-week teaching practicum conducted with Class XII students. The instructional design bridges the official Class XII English Syllabus (Book II Prose, Heroes, Goodbye Mr. Chips, and Grammar/Composition) with advanced Applied Linguistics & English Language Teaching (ELT) principles. The curriculum integrates Systemic Functional Linguistics (SFL), Swales' Genre Analysis, Speech Act Theory, and Form-Meaning-Use grammar frameworks to enhance students' board exam preparation while developing authentic academic and career readiness skills.

55	15	15 hrs	100%
TOTAL HOURS	TEACHING DAYS	ASSESSMENT TIME	SYLLABUS COVERAGE

15-Hour Assessment Distribution Framework

To ensure systematic evaluation and academic rigor, exactly 15 hours of direct instruction time (3 hours per week across the 5-week period) are dedicated to formal and formative assessments:

- Week 1 (3.0h): Diagnostic Baseline (1h), Prose Reading Quiz (1h), Error-Correction Test (1h).
- Week 2 (3.0h): Tenses Diagnostic (1h), Paragraph Writing Task (1h), Oral CLT Rubric Evaluation (1h).
- Week 3 (3.0h): Voice Transformation Quiz (1h), Mid-Term Progress Exam (1.5h), CV Draft Check (0.5h).
- Week 4 (3.0h): Preposition/Lexical Check (1h), Novel Analysis Test (1h), Mock Interview Rubric (1h).
- Week 5 (3.0h): Reported Speech Test (1h), Final Cumulative Board Exam (1.5h), Portfolio Self-Assessment (0.5h).

INTERNSHIP DAILY LOG (WEEKS 1 & 2)

Record of daily instructional activities, skills developed, and logged hours for Days 1 through 6.

Day	Date	Activities Performed	Skills Developed / What I Did	Hours Logged
1	Mon, 14/09	Conducted course orientation with Class XII. Administered a Diagnostic Language & Syllabus Assessment. 1.0h Assessment Included	Evaluated baseline writing and grammar proficiency. Established classroom rapport and analyzed initial error trends.	8:00am - 9:00am (1.0 Hour)
2	Wed, 16/09	Taught Prose Ch. 1: The Dying Sun. Extracted target vocabulary and administered a reading comprehension quiz. 1.0h Assessment Included	Applied schema activation and scientific register deconstruction. Connected textbook vocabulary to formal discourse.	8:00am - 1:30pm (5.5 Hours)
3	Fri, 18/09	Taught Class XII Subject-Verb agreement rules. Conducted a timed board-style error-correction test. 1.0h Assessment Included	Developed error-analysis techniques. Scaffolded constituent parsing to improve sentence structure accuracy.	8:00am - 12:30pm (4.5 Hours)
4	Mon, 21/09	Introduced Present & Past Tenses in board exam questions. Conducted a tenses diagnostic quiz. 1.0h Assessment Included	Translated grammatical rules into exam skills. Provided targeted feedback on literary answer tense consistency.	8:00am - 9:00am (1.0 Hour)
5	Wed, 23/09	Taught Heroes Ch. 1: First Year at Harrow. Guided structured paragraph writing and graded timed drafts. 1.0h Assessment Included	Facilitated writing using Genre-Based Pedagogy. Modeled topic sentence development and paragraph cohesion.	8:00am - 1:30pm (5.5 Hours)
6	Fri, 25/09	Taught Prose Ch. 2: Using the Scientific Method. Facilitated CLT pair discussions and evaluated oral fluency. 1.0h Assessment Included	Implemented Communicative Language Teaching (CLT). Promoted student confidence using structured oral rubrics.	8:00am - 12:30pm (4.5 Hours)

Weeks 1 & 2 Pedagogical Milestones

During the first two weeks, instruction focused on establishing baseline academic standards and introducing students to functional text analysis. By pairing official board exam topics with SFL register concepts, students learned to differentiate between informal daily English and formal academic prose required for Class XII board success.

INTERNSHIP DAILY LOG (WEEKS 3, 4 & 5)

Record of daily instructional activities, skills developed, and logged hours for Days 7 through 15.

Day	Date	Activities Performed	Skills Developed / What I Did	Hours Logged
7	Mon, 28/09	Taught Active/Passive Voice rules. Administered a voice transformation quiz. 1.0h Assessment Included	Simplified complex transformations by explaining passive agent defocusing in scientific literature.	8:00am - 9:00am (1.0 Hour)
8	Wed, 30/09	Covered Mr. Chips (Ch 1–3) & Class XII Essay Writing. Conducted Mid-Term Progress Exam. 1.5h Assessment Included	Balanced literary analysis with essay drafting. Evaluated midpoint academic writing coherence.	8:00am - 1:30pm (5.5 Hours)
9	Fri, 02/10	Instructed Formal Job Application & CV Writing. Conducted formative draft check. 0.5h Assessment Included	Introduced career readiness skills and Swales' Move Analysis for professional correspondence.	8:00am - 12:30pm (4.5 Hours)
10	Mon, 05/10	Taught Prepositions & Idioms from past papers. Administered vocabulary check. 1.0h Assessment Included	Enhanced lexical chunk retrieval and board preposition placement strategies.	8:00am - 9:00am (1.0 Hour)
11	Wed, 07/10	Taught Sahara & Mr. Chips (Ch 4–6). Conducted literary analysis test. 1.0h Assessment Included	Integrated Critical Discourse Analysis with travelogue comprehension and narrative analysis.	8:00am - 1:30pm (5.5 Hours)
12	Fri, 09/10	Taught email writing & mock interviews. Evaluated interview speaking tasks. 1.0h Assessment Included	Utilized Speech Act Theory and politeness hedging in interactive professional role-plays.	8:00am - 12:30pm (4.5 Hours)
13	Mon, 12/10	Taught Direct/Indirect Speech rules. Administered reported speech test. 1.0h Assessment Included	Strengthened structural accuracy by deconstructing deictic shifts in reported narrative statements.	8:00am - 9:00am (1.0 Hour)
14	Wed, 14/10	Taught Fleming & Chips (Ch 7–9). Conducted Final Board Practice Exam. 1.5h Assessment Included	Evaluated overall retention, literature interpretation, and exam writing mastery.	8:00am - 1:30pm (5.5 Hours)
15	Fri, 16/10	Facilitated career portfolio showcase & final review. Conducted self-assessment. 0.5h Assessment Included	Fostered metalinguistic awareness and student self-reflection on portfolio achievements.	8:00am - 12:30pm (4.5 Hours)

Internship Hours Log Summary

Total Hours Completed: 55.0 Clock Hours (15 Teaching Days) | Total Assessment Hours: 15.0 Hours

Supervisor Signature: _____ Date: 16 October 2026

REFLECTIVE JOURNAL — WEEK 1

Intern: Student Intern Mon, 14/09/2026

Reflection of the day: Diagnostic assessment and classroom introduction.

What did I learn today?
I learned that setting the tone on the first day is critical. Administering a baseline assessment helped me understand that while 12th graders know grammar rules mechanically, they struggle to apply them practically in academic writing.

What can I do differently tomorrow?
I gave instructions a bit too quickly. Next time, I will speak slower and write the core instructions on the whiteboard to ensure all 12th graders understand exactly what is expected of them.

Intern: Student Intern Wed, 16/09/2026

Reflection of the day: Textbook reading and vocabulary extraction (The Dying Sun).

What did I learn today?
Students rely heavily on rote memorization for their textbook lessons. When I asked them to guess the meaning of difficult scientific terms from context rather than translating immediately to L1, they were initially confused but eventually engaged deeply.

What can I do differently tomorrow?
I spent too much time standing near the front desk during the long block. Next time, I will walk around the classroom more to monitor students in the back rows during reading exercises.

Intern: Student Intern Fri, 18/09/2026

Reflection of the day: Sentence structure and Subject-Verb agreement.

What did I learn today?
I learned that linking a grammar concept directly to board exam question patterns instantly grabs student attention. Motivation is heavily tied to exam success at the higher-secondary level.

What can I do differently tomorrow?
My Teacher Talk Time (TTT) was too high. I lectured for 30 minutes straight. In the next class, I will limit my explanation to 12 minutes and give students 30 minutes of active parsing practice.

REFLECTIVE JOURNAL — WEEK 2

Intern: Student Intern Mon, 21/09/2026

Reflection of the day: Teaching Present and Past Tenses in Board Context.

What did I learn today?
Students understand tense formulas in isolation but mix up tenses when answering prose questions. They tend to shift between past and present narrative forms within a single paragraph.

What can I do differently tomorrow?
I need to provide a clear visual rule anchor: use Past Simple for literary narrative facts and Present Simple for thematic analysis, reinforcing it before every written drill.

Intern: Student Intern Wed, 23/09/2026

Reflection of the day: Narrative paragraph writing (First Year at Harrow).

What did I learn today?
Using Churchill's narrative as a model text through Genre-Based Pedagogy helped struggling writers. Co-constructing a sample paragraph on the board built a strong bridge to independent drafting.

What can I do differently tomorrow?
Group activities took longer than scheduled during the 5.5-hour session. Next time, I will set strict time limits using a visual timer on the desk to keep workshops on schedule.

Intern: Student Intern Fri, 25/09/2026

Reflection of the day: Communicative speaking task (Using the Scientific Method).

What did I learn today?
Pair work significantly lowers student anxiety when speaking English. 12th graders who never raise their hands in front of the whole class spoke confidently in pair discussions about scientific progress.

What can I do differently tomorrow?
A few dominant students took over pair conversations. Next time, I will assign specific roles (Speaker & Summarizer) and swap them halfway to guarantee equal speaking time.

REFLECTIVE JOURNAL — WEEK 3

Intern: Student Intern Mon, 28/09/2026

Reflection of the day: Active and Passive Voice in board transformations.

What did I learn today?
Explaining why passive voice is used (agent defocusing in scientific literature) was far more effective than just teaching mechanical transformations. Students understood its functional purpose in academic register.

What can I do differently tomorrow?
I should have included more practice sentences directly from their Class XII textbook prose rather than generic grammar book examples to increase syllabus relevance.

Intern: Student Intern Wed, 30/09/2026

Reflection of the day: Novel study (Goodbye, Mr. Chips) and Mid-Term Exam.

What did I learn today?
The mid-term exam revealed that while students remembered character details from Mr. Chips accurately, their extended essays lacked logical cohesion and transition words between paragraphs.

What can I do differently tomorrow?
I will dedicate the opening 20 minutes of Friday's session to teaching cohesive devices (however, furthermore, consequently) to improve paragraph transitions.

Intern: Student Intern Fri, 02/10/2026

Reflection of the day: Formal Job Application and CV writing.

What did I learn today?
12th graders are immensely motivated by real-world, career-oriented writing. Analyzing the "moves" of a formal job application gave them a clear blueprint for both board exams and future job hunting.

What can I do differently tomorrow?
I spent too much time reviewing basic formatting rules individually. Next time, I will project an annotated model CV on the board so everyone can check their own format simultaneously.

REFLECTIVE JOURNAL — WEEK 4

Intern: Student Intern Mon, 05/10/2026

Reflection of the day: Prepositional collocations and board exam idioms.

What did I learn today?
Teaching prepositions as fixed lexical chunks (e.g., "accustomed to", "abstain from") yields much higher retention than teaching prepositions as isolated grammatical rules.

What can I do differently tomorrow?
The vocabulary quiz had too many items at once. In future short sessions, I will limit diagnostic checks to 10 high-frequency collocations to avoid overwhelming students.

Intern: Student Intern Wed, 07/10/2026

Reflection of the day: Travelogue analysis (Hitch-Hiking Across the Sahara) & Mr. Chips.

What did I learn today?
Using Critical Discourse Analysis to examine descriptive tone in travelogues helped students appreciate literary style beyond just memorizing plot points for exams.

What can I do differently tomorrow?
Some students struggled to express literary critique in English. I will provide a list of sentence starters (e.g., "The author emphasizes...") to scaffold their analytical writing.

Intern: Student Intern Fri, 09/10/2026

Reflection of the day: Workplace email ethics and mock interview practice.

What did I learn today?
Simulating job interviews made pragmatics and politeness theory come alive. Students realized how choice of words and hedging impact impression management in professional settings.

What can I do differently tomorrow?
Mock interviews ran slightly over time. Next time, I will strictly enforce a 3-minute limit per student and use peer-evaluation checklists while waiting.

REFLECTIVE JOURNAL — WEEK 5

Intern: Student Intern Mon, 12/10/2026

Reflection of the day: Deictic shifts in Direct and Indirect Speech.

What did I learn today?
Framing reported speech conversions as "deictic shifts" (aligning time, place, and person) helped students solve complex board exam transformations without relying on rote memory.

What can I do differently tomorrow?
I noticed a few students confused pronoun shifts in reported questions. I will write a quick reference chart on the board for converting interrogative structures.

Intern: Student Intern Wed, 14/10/2026

Reflection of the day: Final Comprehensive Practice Exam (Fleming & Mr. Chips).

What did I learn today?
Comparing today's final exam papers with the Day 1 diagnostic showed significant growth in writing organization, grammar accuracy, and literature analysis across the entire class.

What can I do differently tomorrow?
Instead of just returning marked test papers, I will conduct an item-by-item post-exam analysis session so students understand exactly where they gained or lost marks.

Intern: Student Intern Fri, 16/10/2026

Reflection of the day: Career portfolio showcase and internship wrap-up.

What did I learn today?
Empowering 12th graders to assemble and self-evaluate their own writing portfolios built immense pride and metalinguistic awareness. Reflection is a crucial closing step in learning.

What can I do differently tomorrow?
In future teaching assignments, I will introduce portfolio self-assessment earlier in the term rather than waiting until the final week, allowing ongoing self-monitoring.